From the Office of the Dean

Dear NYU Steinhardt Community,

I am writing to share timely updates and resources for all members of our community during this period of transition and rapidly changing public health landscape. Our main priority is safeguarding the health of our NYU community, the communities we serve, and the general public, by avoiding formal and informal gatherings whenever possible. At the same time, we remain dedicated to ensuring academic continuity for our students.

To answer your questions and concerns please find the latest NYU Steinhardt information and points of contact at each link below:

- Fieldwork, Internships, Clinical Placements, and Student Teaching
- Performances, Recitals, Exhibitions, and Events
- Research
- Graduate Admissions Activities
- Remote Work Resources

We understand the challenges these evolving circumstances present. As a School embedded in New York City and cities worldwide, we have an opportunity and an obligation to act in the best interest of the entire community.

Please continue to check NYU Steinhardt's Coronavirus webpage for the latest points of contact, resources, and information.
